WHAT IS IT THAT YOU REALLY WANT?

There are many more ways to ask this question, but the best way is "What is it that you really want?" When it comes to painting, there too, are many ways to go about getting the job done.

After twenty-seven years of having a true passion for our trade we are well aware of the many tactics and tricks used by many to get the job done. I've said for years making the job look good is the easiest part of our job. Other favorite sayings I've used include 1.) Hard work and good effort don't always get the job done; 2.) There are those who know what is right and won't do it and those that don't know what's right and can't do it; 3.) I can take a good man and teach him how to be a good painter, but I can't take a good painter and teach him how to be a good man.

In our early days I learned these things the hard way and through Gods grace and mercy survived those times.

I truly believe I could write a book on what I didn't know my first bunch of years. I gave up on trying to be the biggest company years ago. Today we simply enjoy our reputation as the leader in integrity, knowledge, dependability, skills, organization, service, and longevity. God truly has blessed our company. I tell people the thing I'm most proud of is that after twenty-seven years working in my own community I am always so happy and comfortable to run into people I've done work for. I see them in Giant or at Clement Hardware, the Donut Shack or anywhere else in Severna Park or Annapolis area. I don't have to duck people in shame because I've hurt them (LUKE 6:31) or taken advantage of them. Never have never will. Not after twenty-seven years or fifty years God willing.

So while there may be many ways to get to the end of a point or the end of a job it's how we get there along with the end result that can make all the difference. Painting With Pride after all these years we're still excited, still passionate, and we know how to get there.

Now is the time to take advantage of "OUR" lowest prices of the year on interior painting. Don't delay act before we have exterior painting available.

Sincerely,
