

Do Not Worry About Tomorrow...

Wonderful advice and words to live by from Jesus himself spoken in Matthew 6:34.

Economic prediction is certainly not our area of expertise. We are experts in residential painting and all indications are business is slow. Painting With Pride has now been continuously serving our neighborhood painting needs for thirty one years. We were already in business for several years when interest rates hit 16.5 % in 1981. Things were tough but I was so young, just getting started in life, that the impact on me personally was minimal.

Things were a little scarier in the early 1990's when things really tightened up, business got really slow and I had a young family and many employees who depended on Painting With Pride for financial support.

Now once again we face an economy slow down and possible financial hardships ahead; but with gray hair comes wisdom. For me the season of raising children and those financial responsibilities have past. Today no matter what the future holds we know that all will be well.

So we are at peace knowing that worrying is not the answer. We have blessed assurance and that the future is good (Jeremiah 29:11). Our workforce, many who are now raising families or are getting ready to; are committed to seeing whatever is coming through to completion. We have a wonderful program designed to allow you to control cost, paying only for labor and services you want. See our website or call Kim for details.

We are all committed to delivering the same quality as we always have. We will not cut costs by cutting quality. Never have; never will. We are not ashamed to say we need your support during these lean times. With your support we will be around for many years to come.
